

I have been interrupted by telemarketers at every possible inconvenient times. While sleeping after being up all night, or in the shower, or working on my yard or during all three meals. more often than not the same company that has called here several times before and has been told that not my spouse or my dog or myself was interested in their product and not to call here anymore are once again calling to promote " PHONE RAGE "

If the FCC were to leave a loophole exemption for Radio and TV stations, that those worms several ways to not only circumvent the intent of the law but a way to contest the law under the "equal treatment under the law" part of the constitution calls for. So I beg you to enforce this with ALL of the phone solisitors enclused so you and we can have a little PEACE at least at home.

YOURS RESPECTFULLY
BARBARA GRAY
